TRADE CONDITIONS.

Seasonable Weather Has Tendency to Stimulate Laggard Trade.

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, June 23.—R. G. Dun & Company's weekly review of trade tomorrow will say:
"Seasonable weather in most sections of the country has done much to stimulate lagging retail trade in light weight wearing apparel and has greatly improved the entire business situation by accelerating the maturity of agricultural products. A few more weeks of favorable climatic conditions will put large quantities of grain beyond danger, while late planted corn and cotton are rapidly recovering lost ground. There are the most important influences at this season of the year, jobbers' advance orders being largely dependent upon local conditions."
"In the leading manufacturing industries there is less idle machinery than is customary at this time of inventories, especially at plants making textile fabrics, despite the fact that prices of raw materials are somewhat inflated. Labor controversies are not disturbing, building operations are numerous for the month and involve a greater amount of capital at this time than for several years. Railway earnings for June thus far exceed last year's by 8.1 per cent.
"Failures this week numbered 155 against 227 last year."

DALEY DROPPED.

Best Oarsman of 'Varsity Eight Caught in Some Trick.
(By Associated Press.)
NEW HAVEN, CONN., June 23.—Cornelius Edward Daley, the Yale senior who has been rowing in the 'Varsity eight and was considered one of the best oarsmen in the crew, was today dropped from the college roll, for "conduct improper in a member of the university." The particular charge against the oarsman is based on his examination in physiology. Whether Daley in his examination used notes of an improper character or otherwise violated the rules is a question about which differing opinions were held. His place in the Yale eight is taken by Ormayer, who is an experienced oarsman, though not as tall or as heavy as Daley.
